

ABSTRACT

A manufacturing method for a synthetic leather includes a first step of feeding materials of preset volume, a second step of materials foaming (capable to be skipped if unnecessary), a third step of material and mixing injecting to produce liquid mixed materials by instant reaction, a fourth step of conveying two basic cloths, a fifth step of compressing the two basic cloths with the liquid mixed materials producing reaction between the two basic cloths conveyed to an upper portion of two rollers to produce synthetic leather, and a sixth step of winding finished synthetic leather on two winding wheels. .